Phonathon: Over The Top

This year's phonathon goal was $5,000, but through the hard work of volunteers and the generosity of alumni, callers went "over the top" and received pledges of over $6,500.

Competing for prizes donated by Manor's bookstore and McDonald's Corporation made the phonathon nights very exciting. The top caller was Sister Marie Francis Wolchonsky, Manor Junior College's dean of students, with $1,500 in pledges. Sister Celine Szkodyn, Manor Junior College's executive vice president for Academic Affairs, won top overall calls with $1,473. Shelly Ressler, Manor Junior College's continuing education representative, was the leading alumni caller. All three women received prizes at a

"Thank You" pizza party luncheon sponsored by the Alumni Office in recognition of the volunteers efforts.

If any alumni would like to be a volunteer for the Alumni Office, please contact Stasia Mento, administrative assistant, (215) 885-2360, extension 15. Your help and ideas will bring Manor's alumni together again.

Fulfilling your phonathon pledge is a great way to help Manor's growth and development. If you haven't already donated, please help the Scholarship Fund by sending in your pledge today.

ABWA Invites Manor Junior College Alumni To "Women In Action" Forum

The New Directions Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will return to Manor Junior College this fall with a program entitled "Women in Action...Women and Politics." Scheduled for Saturday, November 1, this Fall Forum has a tentative program of presentations of women in elective office, lobbying with political action groups, and a "how to" on involvement with the election process. Guest speakers and the format of the program will be announced in a special invitation mailing to alums early this fall.

The seminar will be offered from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and includes a buffet luncheon. Cost for the Forum will be $5. Manor alumni will be offered a special discount. Additional information on the Fall Forum is available from Dorothy Gamble, secretary to the executive vice president of academic affairs at Manor Junior college, (215) 885-2360, extension 53.

ABWA is an organization of professional business women committed to education and networking for the advancement of women.

Alumni Attend Allied Health Ceremony

Several Manor Junior College Alumni of the allied health division attended the Annual Pinning Ceremony for graduating sophomores on March 29, 1986. The alumni, invited as special guests to the event by Manor Junior College's Alumni Affairs Office, were greeted with corsages by the Alumni Affairs staff. Also on hand to welcome the returning alums were allied health faculty and Manor Junior College administrators.

The moving, candlelit ceremony brought back pleasant recollections of memories. At the annual ceremony, Manor Junior College sophomores received pins from their appropriate departments—medical assisting, medical lab technology, expanded functions dental assisting, animal science, and optometric technology.

Manor alumni are always welcome at Manor Junior College special events. Manor Junior College activity dates are published in the "Manorama". If you wish to join with past classmates and faculty, please contact Stasia Mento, administrative assistant, Manor Junior College Alumni Affairs Office, (215) 885-2360, extension 15.

It Pays To Be Manor Alum!

Don't forget—Manor Junior College graduates qualify for a special 10% discount on all courses and workshops offered in any session at Manor Junior College. That's a savings of $30. or more per course!

In addition, alumni and their families applying for any degree or diploma program at Manor Junior College waive the application fee. An additional $20. savings!

Watch your mailbox for the latest course offerings. For more information on the discount offer, contact the Continuing Education office at (215) 884-2218 or Admissions at (215) 884-2216 at Manor Junior College.

Lost Alumni

HELP! We can't find you. If anyone knows where these lost alumni are, please contact the Alumni Affairs Office, Stasia Mento, 885-2360. We want to get these alumni involved with Manor again and let them know what is happening with their alma mater.

Alumni Notes

After gathering up update sheets from the phonathon, Alumni Affairs received a lot of names and address changes plus some notes that alumni wrote to inform their friends of events in their lives. The notes that are printed were received by print time. Any new news items received after deadline will be printed in the spring issue of the Alumni Newsletter.

1962

Veronica Eisenbrey Roman:

My daughter, Donna, graduated from Temple University in May with a B.A. in Journalism. Son, Pete, is studying engineering technology at Temple. Andy is a sophomore at LaSalle High School.

1964

Lida Dymicka Pakula:

Would like to know who is doing what, where they live, and what would be the most suitable month for a reunion.

1966

Barbara DeLuca Osinski:

Presently attending Beaver College, B.A. in Art. Will be doing internship at Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, Summer 1986.

Lorraine Osinski Keating:

Todd will be a sophomore at Villanova this fall in mechanical engineering.

Anna Spiekerman Janjanin:

How about a 20 year reunion the beginning of November for the Class of 1966—nothing formal, just a get together, perhaps at Manor's cafeteria.

1967

Mary Ellen Hanobeck Thomas:

I am eagerly anticipating graduating from Temple University in December 1986 with my long-awaited BBA in Accounting.

1968

Angela Rosella Scarengelli:

I now have my own nutrition, fitness, and weight control counseling business.

1969

Patricia Patton Kohler:

I am currently studying to get my degree in nursing. I will be graduated from Gwynedd Mercy College in 1988.

1970

Ana Magdalena Abadia-Reed:

I am alive, well, and living in New Jersey. In the summer of 1985 I went back to Bogota, Colombia, SA. First time in 28 years — I was overdue. It was great to go back and see family, sites, and eat the food again.

1971

Julia Jurasinski Byrne:

Work at IBM. Recently promoted to Manufacturing Manager.

1972

Nancy McNally Wilkinson

Our sorority of Manor graduates meets once a month and includes myself, Karen Cerrato, Carol Hollingsworth, Fran Malpezzi, Carol Klouse, and Janie Lawinger. If anyone wants to come, let one of us know.

1974

Anne Walsh:

Working a few hours at Sears, north-east store in toys and sporting goods. Have a house in North Wildwood. Let's Get A Reunion Together.

1975

Mary Ann Witalec Keyes:

I am working as a paralegal and office manager for my husband, Brian R. Keyes, who is an attorney with offices in New Hope, Pennsylvania, and Stockton, New Jersey. We have a son, John Cedric Keyes who was born on March 13, 1986.
